Selling goods on close margins is something the average California merchant is stranger to. They laugh at the pennies, but the pennies make the dollars, and everybody wants them.

THE FOURTH

Has Come and Gone.

The Spring and Summer Season

Of 1885 is virtually a thing of the past.

AMERICAN FRUIT EVAPORATOR!

The most practical and reliable Fruit Evaporator made. It gives unobstructed hot air currents ABOVE and BELOW all fruit, thus insuring evenness of drying and no spoiled fruit. Beware of infringements. THE AMERICAN is pre-eminently the fruit-raisers' machine. Its sizes grade from domestic to manufacturing wants. It makes the highest quality of work with ordinary care in handling. There is no need of making anything else. Though we approve a slight use of sulphur, the AMERICAN is specially adapted for highest grade in unbleached work. It places fresh cut fruit first in highest and dryest heat; cures cut surfaces at once and keeps them dry, thereby setting and making permanent the color, and also thereby, as in broiling steaks, securing the highest quality in product. We place our experience in evaporating at the disposal of our customers. In some cases the gratuitous service is of more value than prices paid us for evaporators. Sold by

CONSUMPTION

And all diseases of the

HEAD, THROAT AND CHEST,

Including the

EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Specially treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D.,

M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, Ontario; member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario; for three years Associate Physician of the Chicago and Gross' Medical Tunnel and Lung Institutes; for fifteen years, and still, proprietor of the Detroit Throat and Lung Institute; also Lecturer on Physician in and for the State of Michigan, and for seven years Proprietor of the Toronto Pulmonary Institute and Health Resort at Toronto, Ontario. Over 60,000 cases treated by us during the past nineteen years.

To those who have what they are pleased to call "lingering colds," we would say unhesitatingly, and with a smile, that such people would waken all from that pleasing delusion, that without some more active efforts in the rational and proper manner, you will soon follow those who have found release from their sufferings in the "sleep which knows not waking."

You have been conscious, but almost afraid to confess the fact, and unwilling to admit it to yourselves, that the slight irritation of the throat, the annoyance of nasal catarrh, the symptoms of a bronchial inflammation of a few weeks or months ago, which you considerately believed would "wear off," has become firmly established, and is more constantly, and, perhaps, more rapidly and with less relief and precision and unyielding grasp, advancing to ingenious consumption. You may object to and shrink from the final statement by your medical adviser; you may deny that you have such symptoms which present themself upon your observation and reason, but the plain fact, divested of faltering sentences that can only elicit pity or even life itself, is that these three diseases, the bronchial inflammation and other constitutional causes are tolling against you with unerring certainty; and the assurances of no pleasant trip to the sur—that act will be well type-and-bye, are the most definitive and great.

You do not desire to supply the senses with opinions, nor take into the stomach drugs that will forever destroy its tone and impair its efficiency. These classes of opinion have sent to conduct and lull you in fancied security to the very brink of the grave; for in another reasonable nor just to yourselves, or those who regard your cases with trembling solicitude and anxiety. The effects of these continued inflammation and irritation have been thus far confined to the great and rapid vicissitudes of spring, that, with the re-awakening of vegetable life, is peculiarly fatal to consumptives. These changes of season have also had their effect upon the invalid as well as the healthy, and it is wise to be just long stop and reflect upon the nature and progress of your disease, and the remedial means employed for its relief, and seriously inquire if there is a way open to you by which you may escape the fatality that is imperiling life.

We say, without hesitation, that the greater number of pulmonary diseases can be cured, and that every year we are brought in fosters of bigotry, which precludes investigation, or who has the ability, are too indolent to keep pace with medical science of the present time, and all needy victims may well place confidence in the word which will echo the dogma, that consumption cannot be cured, but it is as false as premeditated, if not prepared to place the affliction of this terrible malady in direct communication with persons in this country and in various sections of the country, who have been cured of consumption, and to prove to the satisfaction of the most inquiring mind the truth, both in and out of the profession, that these parties had consumption in as far advanced stages—some among them having the bronchial and others the tubercular type of the disease—pronounced incurable by physicians, by expectorants, by the torture of counter-irritants, by the knife, and by blistering, not by any of the recognized ways of palliating disease. They were cured by local and constitutional measures combined. Topical medications and general treatment both performed good services. The stomach and digestive organs were restored to normal condition for nourishing the body, and from nourishment, nervures, this blood and fragile creatures, they soon possessed vital power to throw off the disease. Medicated inhalations, stimulation, and other means developed by medical science and research, have all been called into requisition, and, to-day, these persons are living and well, participating in the active affairs and business of life. We need not dilate upon theories while we are able to present living evidences of the efficacy of Jones' treatment in a class of cases so long and persistently pronounced hopeless.

CONSULTATION FREE.—Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address

The Times.

Office—Temple, Main and New High.

IN KANSAS they are discussing the practicability of attaching lightning rods to their wire fences—a rod to every twenty feet of fence.

THE Republicans of Ohio send greeting to Brother St. John in words and figures of speech as follows, to-wit: "Come into the garden, Fraud."

THE Ohio Republicans have carefully put at the head of their State Executive Committee a man thoroughly posted on threshing machines. This appears to mean something.

SANTA BARBARA had a decided shaking up by earthquake between one and eight o'clock yesterday morning. It was purely a local affair. California has lost one Santa Barbara.

THE Governor has seen fit to commute the death sentence of the brutal murderer, Jack Lonnor, to imprisonment for life. This was as good a case for the rope as the annals of crime often furnish. In the bright lexicon of His Excellency is there no such word as hanging?

VICE PRESIDENT HENDRICKS thinks of extending his swing-around-the-circle, electioneering trip to the Pacific Coast. He would fare better if he did not commence upon us so early. The longer time the people of California have to think of him, the less they are apt to like him. Eighteen hundred and eighty-eight is so far off.

THE Merced Express, referring to the reported dullness in the labor market there, while one rancho gives employment to 250 Chinamen, says:

The Buhach Plantation is compelled once a year to have a large number of men for a few weeks to gather the buhach plant, and as the "little brown man is the handiest and most numerous he is given the employment. There are but few white men at present out of work in Merced.

THE New York Tribune has a special dispatch from Washington which says that among the recent appointments was that of Jerry Mulroy to be Custodian of Public Buildings at Cincinnati. It adds, "Jerry Mulroy has served two terms in the workhouse and was once convicted of petty larceny." This is not the kind of reform this country was promised by the Democratic party, though Jerry is no worse than several other appointees of this reform administration.

THE Pall Mall Gazette sensation continues to shake the English social fabric. A cablegram says that the office of the paper is besieged by a howling mob, each man eager to buy papers at a shilling apiece. The arrests of those who have sold the offending issues on the streets amount to nothing, as the Lord Mayor takes sides with the Gazette, and releases the alleged culprits at once. Meanwhile the Gazette continues its sensation in installments of five pages or such matter, and the aristocracy are tearing their hair. "Let him who is guiltless throw the first stone." Nobody dares to begin a prosecution against the offending paper.

Fun for the Street Department.

For several days Temple street in front of the TIMES office has presented a gala appearance. From the center of the street in the day-time the stars and stripes wave triumphantly, and at night a pale lantern casts its gentle beams over the thoroughfare and disputes the right of sovereignty with the electric light. The cause of this hilarity seems to be that an old private sewer has caved in and a good sized hole is the result. The city authorities who have charge of the streets probably are ignorant of their unsuccessful effort in the line of decoration and illumination, but some night a passer-by will drive into that hole and then the city has to foot the bill it will not be quite so funny.

The Parker Association.

The Parker Association of the First Baptist Church is not composed exclusively of young men, as stated yesterday, but numbers some of the fairest of the fair in its organization. The entertainment to be given this evening is, however, under the auspices of the young gentlemen of the society exclusively. That is where the reporter got off his base. The entertainment promises to be a fine affair. There will be literary exercises and refreshments.

A Revolution in Cuba.

HAVANA, July 9.—Lloyd's agent at St. Thomas received information from Venezuela on the 3d instant that a revolution had broken out in that country, and that the revolutionists had taken possession of the steamer Liberty, loaded with two large Krupp guns and torpedoes. Generals Puljar, Urdaneta, Pulido and other chiefs of the government troops at Corrapano had pronounced in favor of the revolutionists. War was declared in Trinidad June 27th, when Maiarin, Cumana and Barcelona also pronounced against the government.

General Grant.

MOUNT MCGREGOR, July 9.—"He is having a wonderfully good day, considering his fatigue yesterday," said Dr. Douglas at 2 p. m. The General, in response to a question this afternoon, wrote: "I am glad to say that while there is much unthinking wickedness in this world, there is a compensating generosity and grandeur of soul. In my case, I have not found that republics are ungrateful, nor are people."

A Tremendous Grain Shipment.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—During the cereal year just ended, there was shipped by sea from San Francisco over 26,500,000 bushels of wheat, of the aggregate value of $21,500,000, and 1,800,000 barrels of flour worth $5,300,000.

Cholera Report.

MADRID, July 9.—The number of new cases of cholera reported in Spain yesterday was 1,479; deaths, 744.

PARIS, July 9.—The cholera, it is rumored, has crossed the Spanish frontier into the department of Aume.

Raiding in Mexico.

GUAYMAS, Mexico, July 9.—The Apaches are raiding Northwestern Sonora. Strong expressions are made in military circles against United States troops crossing the border.

A CYCLONE.

It Tears Across Minnesota and Wisconsin.

LEAVING DIRE HAVOC IN ITS PATH.

Partial Reports of the Damage—Towns Utterly Demoralized and Buildings Scattered to the Winds.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

ST. PAUL, July 9.—Specials say a terrific wind and rain storm visited the western and southern sections of this State last evening. In some places the storm took the shape of a cyclone, destroying everything in its path. Crops suffered the most, whole fields being destroyed.

IN WISCONSIN.

SPARTA, Wis., July 9.—A terrible cyclone swept over this place last evening, with a great destruction of farm houses and farms. Several churches were badly damaged. Fourteen cars at the St. Paul depot were blown from the track and several derailed at the Northwestern depot. Trains have been delayed by these accidents. No reports have been received from the country.

OSHALOOSA, Iowa, July 9.—The greatest rain storm for many years raged here yesterday. Over five inches fell. Many bridges were washed out and river bottoms were overflowed.

REPORTS OF THE DAMAGE.

MILWAUKEE, July 9.—To-night reports of damages from last night's storm continue to come in and the indications are that it will yet be several days before all small towns in the interior will be heard from. The storm appears to have passed entirely across the State diagonally from northwest to southeast. At Sparta, which city appeared to have been the greatest sufferer, the storm raged for over an hour, during the greater part of which time the air was filled with falling trees and flying debris. Although no lives are reported lost, many narrow escapes are reported from falling buildings. Along Court street scenes of desolation prevail. Buildings are wrecked on every hand, shade trees torn from their roots, sidewalks demoralized, and fences blown down. Several fine residences and a number of the less pretentious, are in ruins. Further than this will sum up the thousands of dollars, no estimate of the loss is at present made.

AT Plainfield the storm was the most terrific ever seen. A large number of buildings were blown down or unroofed, and freight cars were smashed into splinters.

Port Edwards, in Wood county, had a planing-mill, store and five dwellings blown out of sight. Lumber yards were scattered to the winds and other property injured. About Edgerton, more than 500 tobacco sheds were demolished. Houses, barns and other buildings suffered a like fate and considerable live stock was killed.

The new Catholic church, Sax mill, residences and barns were destroyed at Appleton. About Stoughton, the scene of the great tobacco warehouse fire of last Sunday, the tobacco sheds, houses and barns were demolished, and a large number of horses and cattle killed.

From the small towns reports of the storms' destruction are received, but very few estimates of the actual losses are made. Inquiry in places where the destruction by wind was not severe show great damage done by lightning. At Whitewater, Fall River and Elroy the loss by lightning was particularly severe. At Dexterville, Wood county, the loss by wind and lightning will not fall short of $50,000, and at Wallsville, twenty miles north, the loss is also severe. In all sections of the State visited by the storm crops have suffered great injury.

THE CYCLONE IN WISCONSIN.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The Inter-Ocean's Oshkosh special says: "Last evening a cyclone and water spout with terrific velocity met twelve miles south of here, swept along the river, mill and lumber districts and struck this city with terrible violence. Hundreds of houses were wholly or partially demolished. Among the large buildings which are now heaps of ruins are the Equitable building and St. Paul's and St. Peter's churches. Two persons are reported killed and twenty hurt. Many families are homeless. Much property destroyed."

METEOROLOGICAL DISTURBANCES.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Dispatches received here to-night show that marked meteorological disturbances were experienced at different times during the day along the entire Atlantic coast, almost from the mouth of the St. Lawrence to the south of the Mississippi. In this city the day was very hot and the atmosphere close and sticky. Only those who were compelled were out and they mopped their faces and sought shady sides of the streets. A number of people were prostrated by the heat. The temperature continued to mount till 3:30 o'clock, when it marked 91.

At Dover, N. H., it ranged from 88 to 103 in the shade. Several persons were prostrated.

There was a wind storm at Waterbury, Central Vermont, where two barns were blown down and several girls buried in the ruins. They are in a critical condition.

At Waterbury, Vermont, there was a cyclone at 1:30 and considerable damage was done to houses and trees. A covered bridge 212 feet long was blown into the Winooski river. At Baltimore the temperature was 94 and there were two sunstrokes.

At Nyack, N. Y., an excursion barge, with 700 Sunday-school children on board, had its roof blown off, and a panic resulted which threatened the most serious results for a time. Several persons attempted to jump overboard.

At Wilkesbarre, Pa., there was a terrible storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning. Seven persons were more or less seriously injured by lightning, and country crops were damaged by wind and rain.

At Lowell, Mass., there was a storm of rain, wind and lightning. Lightning ran into the town on the wires, destroying the telephone and telegraph systems of the city. Some buildings were blown down and others struck by lightning. At New Orleans there was a storm in the morning, during which a house in course of erection was struck. Two boys were in it at the time. One was killed and the other badly stunned. At Scranton and Carbondale there was considerable damage by lightning.

A tree was blown across the track of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Hudson and a passenger train ran into it and was wrecked. No one hurt.

A number of dwellings were struck and several persons shocked.

Anarchists Caught.

BRUSSELS, July 9.—The arrest here yesterday of fifteen Anarchists was brought about by the contents of some documents found by the police during a domiciliary visit. The visit was made to ascertain the character of an establishment which started the publication of a new Nihilist paper called Neither Servant nor Master. Evidences were found that the paper was in the interest of an organization having as its object, the assassination of several sovereigns and Arrests were at once made. Further investigations have proven the innocence of some of the prisoners. They were discharged to-day. Others are still held on charges of vagrancy. The Nihilists will hold an indignation meeting next Sunday to protest against the summary action of the police.

The Garfield Monument.

COLUMBUS, July 9.—The Garfield Statue Commission to-day accepted the report of the committee which has examined the statue at Washington and accepted the same. They decided to erase from the pedestal the letters James A., and have only the word Garfield in large letters thereon. Governor Hoadley will present the statue to Congress by letter, and it will be unveiled immediately without formalities.

Killed Her Children and Herself.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 9.—Mrs. Rogers, wife of John Rogers, store keeper, killed her two children with an axe and drowned herself in the water trough. The deed was caused by the discovery of her husband's intimacy with Miss Emma Snell, a cousin of Mrs. Rogers.

Attempt to Blow Up a Train.

TROY, N. Y., July 9.—An infernal machine, so rigged that the passage of a train would explode it, was found on the bridge near Salmon river, South Plattsburg, this morning. It was found only a few minutes before the passenger train was due.

TROUBLE ON THE CATTLE DRIVE.

Fifty Thousand Head Forcibly Detained in Kansas.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The following telegram was received this morning by the Commissioner of Agriculture:

DODGE CITY, KANSAS, July 8.

To Hon. Norman J. Colman, Commissioner of Agriculture: Nearly 50,000 cattle on the drive from Texas to Fan Handle of Texas and Colorado have been forcibly stopped and prevented from passing over the common trail for such cattle through the Indian country at Cherokee strip, and Neutral Land, and are now corralled there by an armed band of men in the pay of rival cattle interest. These cattle comprise the herds of J. H. Blocker, 7,000 head; Pringley Bros.'s and Dawling, of 9,000; J. W. Driskoll, of 12,000; H. S. Holly, of 7,000, and John T. Lyttle, of 5,000, all citizens of Coffeyville, Missouri, Kansas and Texas. These cattle were purchased for speedy delivery in Colorado and the Pan Handle, the contracts for which are now expiring, or have expired. All of these cattle are sound and healthy and in charge of citizens of Texas. To further aid in stopping these cattle, criminal proceedings have been instituted and complaints sworn out by the cattle men's party at the suggestion of this rival interest. We have done our best to get a trial and have the case disposed of. We are law-abiding citizens, and started our cattle north with a full knowledge of all the requirements of quarantine regulations of the several States.

The same committee then reported the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, One of the principal objects of this convention is the establishment of closer relations between the Department of Agriculture and all institutions systematically engaged in active labors for agricultural progress, therefore

Resolved, That, in the opinion of this convention, the first practical measure to secure co-operation is the fulfillment of the admirable suggestions of the Commissioner in the creation of a division or office in the Department of Agriculture, supplied with necessary clerical force, which office shall be a special medium of intercommunication and exchange between the institutions intended to be represented by this convention and the central office for a general plan of co-operation.

Resolved, That this convention respectfully recommends to the Commissioner as one of the most important functions of the proposed bureau the compilation or publication of periodical bulletins of agricultural progress, not less than quarterly, and as annual report based thereon, to be published in full in the daily press, for the use of the people and press, the latest experiences and results in the progress of agricultural education, investigation and experiment in the field and all other countries.

Resolved, That as a necessary part of the intended co-operation between field and experiment stations on their part there be represented regard themselves as bound to make definite plans for supplying to the central office such full reports of their operations as may be called for by the Commissioner.

We hope this may receive your immediate attention, and that under the large power given you, you may direct the Marshal or Attorney-General of the district of Kansas to see that these men are not detained, but have the right, not only to complete their journey, but a safe escort from hostile parties. (Signed) J. R. Blocker, Texas; W. S. Pumley, Colorado; J. W. Driskoll, Texas; John T. Lytle, Texas; Geo. West, Texas; C. A. Lorton, July 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette reproduces articles favorable to its course from religious newspapers, the Western Mercury and Belfast News, representative editors of the most conservative Mr. John Britain, Liberal member of Parliament of Kidderminster, and other persons of prominence. The Pall Mall Gazette this evening publishes an editorial thanking the city authorities for the attempt to suppress its sale of papers, thereby breaking the conspiracy of silence maintained by the press concerning the grave revelations. "Police seizures of newspapers are common in Vienna," continues the Gazette, "but each high-handed outrages" on the freedom of the press should have been impossible in London. Instead of punishing the vendors in the streets, it is the authorities who take action against the responsible parties in this business." If we have published anything obscene or libelous we say so. We deny that anything has been published by us deserving that censure, and we declare the authorities onwards, or worse, if they fail to proceed against us after having charged in open court that the Pall Mall Gazette was an obscene publication. We unhesitatingly adjust the method of publicity in order to arouse men to a just sense of the horrors existing all around them. Now, Mr. Stead is in the witness box, before the Commission, and to-day we are prepared to prove our statements. We can summon witnesses from the Dean of Canterbury and the Prince of Wales down to Mr. Jarvis. We will put our whole case in formant and his assailants in the witness box."

HOW THE SENSATION WAS WORKED UP.

LONDON, July 9.—The chief director of the Pall Mall Gazette's Secret Inquiry Commission, through which the revelations were made, gives the following account of the whole matter as follows: Investigation began on May 24, and the work was unremitting by day and night. Considerable valuable assistance from the Salvation Army, from the London Committee for the Suppression of Traffic in English Girls, and from the vast experience of Mrs. Josephine Butler. The Commission was composed of a number of the Gazette staff, and acted independently of the police. The Home Office deprecated, on official grounds, allowing the journalists to interview the police. The Commission was applied to the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London and Cardinal Manning for advice, and these great authorities on morals, while disapproving the proposed line of the Commission's task, all warmly supported its object. Ready help was accorded to the Commission by Lord Lorne and other influential clergymen, also from the local Joint Protection Committee, the White Ribbon Army, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the London City Mission, Reformatory Refuge, Union Rescue Society and Ladies' Association and Moral Reform Union. The Commission divided all the hospitals, refuges and refuges where harbor is given. The unfortunate inmates readily gave all information in their possession. Most of the revelations, however, were obtained through interviews with everybody, high and low, likely to have information derived from the Commission. Mrs. Jeffries was subjected to an interview by some member of the Commission. Mrs. Jeffries shed a flood of light upon the whole subject under investigation. The entire cost of the investigation amounted to £1,500.

IN THE LORD MAYOR'S COURT.

Thirteen newspaper venders, who had been arrested for selling copies of the Pall Mall Gazette, were arraigned before the Lord Mayor to-day. The City Solicitor, in speaking of the cases, charged with publicly selling obscene literature, said said he had married for the Court's perusal, passages in the Gazette's articles upon which the charges was based. He must, he said, decline reading the passages in open court, and said he thought that a repetition of those objectionable statements, with little alteration, daily, indicated no good object. The Solicitor then stated that he would require further time to consider what charges to formulate against the defendants. The Lord-Mayor said he thought it would be best to await the decision of the government, which had before it for consideration the same case.

The proprietors of the Pall Mall Gazette to-day asked Sir Richard Cross, Home Secretary, for protection against the crowds surrounding the publication office.

STILL ARRESTING.

LONDON, July 9.—The police continue to arrest all venders found selling copies of any of the past four days' issues of the Pall Mall Gazette.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Sarah Althea Hill Sharon this afternoon caused the arrest of Dr. A. U. Piper of Chicago, who came here several months ago to testify as to the character of the alleged marriage contract which played the most important part in the celebrated Sharon divorce case. She charges him with libeling her in a pamphlet recently published in this city, in which Piper states it as his belief that Sharon's signature to the alleged marriage contract was written by one Max Gumpel.

LONDON, July 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette's sensation continues, and the third instalment of its exposures has been put forth. This, in some respects, is more repulsive than any that has preceded it. Five pages are devoted to details. Every case is so clearly described that the guilty parties could be located within twenty-four hours by a detective of the most ordinary intelligence. Every possible clue is given except names of principals. The accompanying editorial article to-day is short, but more aggressive than any that has been printed since the exposures were begun. The Child, the Woman and the State.

Monsignor Capel, in his interesting lecture, last Wednesday evening, on "The Dignity of Woman," dwelt with truth, force and eloquence upon the influence of woman upon the house, and the converse of that proposition. He maintained, what we all know, that children reared in hotels, boarding houses anywhere, in fact, beyond the influence of the home proper—are liable to "grow up crooked and to go wrong. But when he went so far as to include charitable institutions in the category of places unsuitable to the rearing of children, saying of them:—

"They bring children up by machinery; I would sooner put an orphan with even I poor family, than into the best institution in your country, for rearing"—

he made an extreme statement, which cannot be successfully maintained. There are families and families. It is not so much whether the family is poor, as whether it is moral and intelligent, industrious and frugal, in determining its fitness as a place for the rearing of children. To say that all families, irrespective of character, are better places to put orphans for rearing than the best institution in the country, is to utter an absurdity, which the speaker could hardly have seriously intended. Besides, the allegation of the Monsignor applies with equal force to monasteries and other Catholic institutions, which are zealously supported by the church of which the lecturer is a shining light. In the nature of the case it is impossible to provide for all orphans and other homeless children in families; therefore public charitable and educational institutions are necessary, and are to be commended as the next best place to good homes for the rearing of children.

Monsignor Capel took another position wherein he is by no means generally sustained by the sentiment of Catholics, conservative as that church is known to be on the subject. We refer to the question of woman's rights, which the prelate attacked with vigor, and with something akin to scorn. No less an authority than Bishop Spalding has, it appears, a strong leaning towards giving women the right to vote. We quote the following, bearing on this subject, from the Brooklyn Catholic Examiner:

Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, is one of our soundest thinkers and ablest writers. His article on the "True Basis of Government," in a recent issue of the North American Review, has attracted much attention. He took unassailable ground that all governments should be based on morality, and that none can continue to prosper and sound that have any other foundation. One of the most striking utterances in his article, however, is the following: "Women are the most intelligent and influential part of the most sober portion of the American people, and it is not easy to understand why their influence in public life is dreaded. They are the natural educators of the race, and that they and their children are the chief victims of drunken men; and since men have been unable or unwilling to form a right system of education, or to find a preventive of intemperance, there can be no great harm in giving, on those matters at least, an experimental vote to women." Who shall say after this that there is not a sentiment in favor of extending the suffrage to women? And can suppose it was done? We do not believe they would abuse it in the manner in which a very large proportion of our men do. Bishop Spalding points out that for reasons that are obvious they would stand for and advocate morality in public life; that their votes would unquestionably be cast to promote it, and if they did this none but good results would follow. The smart writers of the press may laugh at the idea of woman suffrage, but we are not sure that it is a thing to be laughed at. One thing is plain, and that is, that there are at present a great many more people willing to allow women to vote than there were a few years ago. The world moves. The end is not yet, and he is a rash prophet who would say that women will not some time have a voice in the government of the land for which they bear and educate rulers.

Monsignor Capel and Bishop Spalding are many of them making renewed attempts to prove the connection between sun spots and the atmospheric disturbances on this planet. The number of unusually severe storms that have occurred within the past few weeks gives some plausibility to this theory, as the number of sun spots has been large, and terrible activity has been apparent within the limits of the solar sphere.

NEW YORK.

Lights and Shadows of Life in the Metropolis.

A MOURNFUL CORTEGE FOR THE WEST.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 25.—On Monday night a mournful little cortege left here for the West, bearing the beloved remains of one who, on Saturday, was a bridegroom. It is the old, old story of hope deferred and sinking at last in sight of the promised land. He whom they bore away on Monday last, during one of his trips to the East twenty years ago, met a young and beautiful girl and fell in love with her. As their conditions were equal there seemed to be not the slightest objection to their union. The gentleman had reached middle life, and had made a respectable fortune. The lady was an orphan belonging to one of the oldest and most respectable families in New York. The gentleman was as attentive as any lover could possibly be, but when the time came for his return to his business in the West, he bade his lady-love goodbye and departed. Each year he returned to New York, and on every visit sought out his charmer and never seemed so happy as when in her presence; but while unremitting in his attentions, he never made the supreme declaration that alone could satisfy her heart. Twenty years rolled rapidly away; the young maiden became a woman of thirty-eight, whose net brown hair was streaked with lines of silver; but it seemed as if her love grew stronger as her age increased, but in all those years the object of her adoration never asked her to become his wife. Three months ago he fell sick, and whether he had a presentiment of evil I know not, but he suddenly resolved that he would make his first love his wife. He wrote to her at once, and in as brief a time as the express could bear the letter, received his future bride's acceptance of his suit. He hurried on to New York as soon as possible, and active preparations were made for the wedding, for the groom was sick. The marriage had been long delayed; he resolved that he would finally make amends for the disappointments of past years. The wedding cake was ordered, the cards were prepared and sent out. The happy bride was taken to Tiffany's and a magnificent pair of solitaires and a lovely diamond ring were a portion of the bride's presents. On Friday the groom was taken sick; on Saturday it became evident that the end was not far off; a minister was sent for, and the twain who had waited so long were at last made one. A few hours after the bridegroom quietly passed away in the arms of his newly-made wife, and the clergyman who had married them twenty-four hours before read the funeral service. Orange blossoms and cypress wreaths were entwined, and on Monday last they bore his remains back to his western home.

Satan appears to have entered into our colored Zion. For a quarrel in one of our colored churches not only led to a disruption of the church itself, but a week ago the pews, the collection boxes, the chairs, and even the Holy Bible, were seized by the sells of two rival ministers for their pay, and sold under the sheriff's hammer to satisfy a judgment. The delightful uncertainty of legal proceedings was never better illustrated than in this particular case. The judgment was for $123; the sheriff's fees were $87, the lawyer's charge was $50, and some incidentals, amounting to about $12, making a total of $149 expenses to collect a judgment of $123.

The thing started this way: There were two rival parties in the church and these parties split upon the minister. One party wanted a minister who was old and homely, but pious, and the other desired a spiritual teacher who was young and good looking, but worldly, which was a mild way of putting it. The pious minister was steadfastly supported by all the old grey-headed saints in the congregation, and his ministerial duds had a strong backing with all the good-looking girls and mothers who had marriageable daughters, and who felt that it would not be long till the stylish young preacher would take unto himself a wife. The position was a desirable one; the congregation, though not rich, was influential, and the minister's salary was fixed at $350 a year. That with marriage fees and other little perquisites, which include free shaves, an occasional hair, presents of fancy neckties and embroidered slippers, etc., made the position, if not affluent, at least desirable. Both parties held elections, and each accused the other of ballot-box stuffing and other grievous offenses. Each party hung tongues of slander raked the character of the rival evangelists, affidavits were furnished by the dozen of their sinful delinquencies, and if gore-quenched thirst were true they ought both to be in the penitentiary. At last the rival factions came to blows, and in the midst of the fray, hymn books and collection boxes were used as missiles of attack. The church was roundabout, one fat sister was knocked clean through the pulpit, and a prominent deacon wore a beefsteak on his left eye for more than a week. But the church is sold now, the pews are sold, the hymn books are sold, the bible is sold, and the sheep are scattered. It is true they are black sheep, but still they must not be lost. In view of the adverse influences at work, perhaps this African Zion had better turn them both out and have a new deal all around. The ministers need about as much converting as the congregation, and if that the church, the pews, the hymn books and the bible have all been closed out under the hammer of the auctioneer, it seems to be an excellent opportunity to make a fresh start.

The murder of the Chinaman Ah Mon, at high noon on Sunday last, affords some food for reflection. For some time past there has been a most persistent effort on the part of many of the churches here to do something for the Chinese of New York. It occurred to some excellent people that if we were bound to have these Mongolians in our midst, it would be better to make them decent, God-fearing men than to have them among us a living leprosy and a curse. Five hundred of them were gathered into the different Sunday schools, and five hundred more peaceable or respectable scholars were not to be found in the city; this is the unquestioned testimony of all who were brought in connection with them. Ah Mon, the murdered man, was a model scholar and teacher. The manner in which he bore the indignities heaped upon him by his slayer shows that he was a Christian gentleman. The ruffianly instincts of the brute who killed him is shown by the fact that on a pleasant Sunday afternoon, as he starts out for a walk through streets where a policeman can be met every few blocks, he puts his bulldog pistol in his pocket and sees that every chamber is loaded. Peaceable people don't do that sort of thing—none but murderous Thugs and ruffians carry knives and pistols in the streets of a crowded city, and it was the fact of his having a pistol in his pocket and the knowledge that the Chinamen were unarmed, that made this ruffian Quinn so brave in his attack. New York and Brooklyn are cursed with organized gangs of thieves and ruffians who frequently terrorize the neighborhoods in which they live. Most of them have done service in the penitentiary or States prison—all of them deserve it.

A change is demanded in the administration of our police; they are too closely allied to the criminal classes. The retirement of Superintendent Walling is a step in the right direction, and let us hope that some radical changes in the force may follow.

The assassination of this poor Chinaman has awakened a general feeling of indignation among all classes of our people. If an American citizen had been shot down at Nanking or Pekin in such a brutal and unprovoked manner, the United States would have been all ablaze, and our own self-respect, our sense of justice, of honor and of right must make us see to it that the murder of Ah Mon shall not be unavenged.

A new racer has appeared on our waters, and the same principles applied to the construction of ocean steamers that now distinguish the Stiletto, will make it possible to make the trip to Europe in five days. For several years the Mary Powell has been the acknowledged queen of the river. No steamer attempted to run with her. Occasionally she would take a spurt with the trains on the Hudson River road, and frequently the engineer would have to give an extra twist on the throttle valve in order to shake her off. But she met her match on Wednesday last, and we have a craft that is good for more than twenty-five miles an hour. The Mary Powell bowled off her twenty-five miles an hour as regular as the clock, but on Wednesday last that was not enough—the new flyer, a little cockle-shell of a thing, left her behind as though she had been tied to the dock. If this model could be adopted by ocean steamers I should not be surprised to see them make regularly six hundred miles every twenty-four hours.

Within the last two weeks we have had the regattas of the Atlantic and New York Yacht Clubs. These meetings bring together the very best society in the metropolis, who are the supporters of one of the noblest and healthiest sports in the world. Great interest of course centers on new and improved models for these ocean flyers. One of the ocean yachts now receiving considerable attention is the Republic, owned by Wright Duryea, Esq., a very enthusiastic yachtsman, and whose interest desires seems to be to own the fastest yacht afloat. Since the last season the Republic, which was then one of the finest yachts in the fleet, was completely rebuilt from main truck to keelson, and the alterations have made her one of the finest yachts that floats in American waters. In the race the other day, just at the critical moment when she was turning the lightship after a run of twenty miles, her flying jibboom snapped off like a pipe-stem, and lost her the race. The full capabilities of this beautiful yacht are yet to be tested, but I shall not be at all surprised to learn before the boating season is over that Mr. Duryea has got the greyhound of the sea. Yours truly,

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Public Library.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: As the Board of Trustees of the Public Library are to hold a meeting next week, there are two suggestions which I wish through your columns respectfully to submit to their consideration.

The first refers to holidays. Some half dozen of these occur in a year, during which the Library is closed; and I consider that no public officer is better entitled to holiday privileges than the Librarian who does duty seven days per week. But why close the Library? Crowds are in town on every public holiday, who are bent on sight-seeing and who are debarred the enjoyment and profit of seeing this resort, which is one of the most pleasing in our city. Cannot the Board appoint a substitute to take the Librarian's place on such days? For two or three dollars each holiday, some citizen whose patriotism is of the quiet kind might be found, and the visitors who have been wearing out the handle of the Library door every holiday for years past would bless the Trustees for the boon.

My second suggestion concerns the large notices hung up in the reading-room prohibiting smoking. Are the Trustees aware that these are unheeded?—that the notice is treated with utter contempt?—that when ladies do come into the room, they stay as short time as possible in the perfumed air?—that non-smokers of the hardier sex have sometimes offered a gentle remonstrance, but all in vain? My suggestion is simply this: That either the notice should be taken down altogether, or the orders of the ordinance gently persuaded to heed it.

A Chess Monopoly.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: The chess-boards in the Public Library are habitually monopolized by a few chronic players, who play from morning till night, seven days in the week, to the exclusion of patrons of the Library who have equal rights, but less time to spend there. I, for one, protest, and unite in the demand for

Things in the Water.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I see in your print of the 8th inst. that "Health Officer Baker is moving to have a committee of the best physicians to analyze the water used by our citizens for domestic purposes." I suppose the report will be "extract of animalcule." To state that bloodsuckers, fish and snails too numerous to mention exist in the water, would be detrimental to the profession, these dull times, in the matter of business.

Why not the officer himself go and examine the outlet of the pipes in all parts of the city? He will see enough to disgust a thirsty man these cholera times. For the authorities to allow the people to use such water is outrageous.

Yours truly, J. DUNDAN.

CATARRH!

And Consumption are Caused by Atmospheric Germs, Which Develop into Parasites. These Diseases are

Scientifically Treated By

W. N. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of "Chicago Homeopathic College," Chicago, and "College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario," Canada.

CATARRH

Is caused by the presence of parasites, microscopical in size, in the mucous membranes. The germs are deposited from the air and become more readily developed and increase more rapidly in systems debilitated from any cause, as in scrofulous subjects and in those suffering from a hypersemic or torpid liver, which causes the blood to become impoverished.

The catarrh is first located in the anterior part of the nose and the patient seems to have a cold in the head, from which he is scarcely ever free. This gradually extends to the posterior nares and mucous is expelled, especially in the morning, from the throat, but in rare cases there is no discharge, a dry sensation in the nostrils above being present.

In time the mucous membrane becomes thickened, so that respiration through the nose is difficult or impossible, then the germs are deposited directly into the throat and lungs. This stage of the disease will be noticed by a hacking cough or simply a disposition to clear the throat. Sometimes the germs will lie dormant for years until such time as the lungs become to a fit condition for their development. This condition may be the result of a severe or badly doctored lasting disease, when the germ is able to multiply and produce its kind. Then colds do not get off as other colds have done and we have a case of Chronic Bronchitis or Catarrh of the Lungs, which is often mistaken for consumption and may go into that disease if not arrested.

Our treatment destroys the parasites in any case, either in spray or inhalation, as will destroy these germs or parasites, soften the mucous in the lungs and facilitate expectoration. This gives constitutional medicines a chance to build up the system and under such climate can better exert its curative influences. This climate alone very often apparently arrests the disease, but there is always danger of a relapse until the cause is removed. Most Catarrh is frequently cured with from one to four applications of medicine. Every lung disease can be cured if taken in time and the hopeless cases will be prolonged and comfort given to the patient.

Simple Nasal Catarrh and pharyngitis can be treated at a distance by mail. 5 for a list of questions, but if lungs are involved an examination at office is necessary.

COMMUTED.

Gov. Stoneman Interferes With Jack Lennox's Death Sentence,

AND MAKES IT IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE.

The News Arrives in a Private Dispatch Yesterday, Also the Remittitur—The Reward of a Most Atrocious Murder.

There are few people in the county who do not remember the crime for which Jack Lennox has been behind the bars for eleven months, with the vision of the gallows before him. Sunday, August 17, 1884, Lennox, a tall, powerful blacksmith of 28, met in Powell's saloon, at Newhall, a dwarfed Switzer named D. Capetti, who was 35 years old and weighed less than 100 pounds. Capetti had refused to let Lennox's brother ride on his loaded team. Lennox, who had been drinking, now demanded an explanation, and without waiting for it, assaulted Capetti violently. At last, Lennox being held, the little Switzer escaped from the saloon and ran for his life across the fields. Lennox broke loose and followed, threatening to kill. For over half a mile the hideous race continued. Then the blacksmith overtook his victim, picked up a heavy club, and despite cries for mercy, battered Capetti's head to pieces, and even kicked him in the face. He then tried to escape; and when captured begged not to be lynched. He at first pleaded not guilty, and claimed he knew nothing of the matter. Arraigned before Judge Smith September 4th, he pleaded guilty, having been led by his counsel to hope that thus he might escape with imprisonment. Judge Smith heard evidence to fix the degree of the murder, and on September 11th sentenced Lennox to be hanged October 31st. Col. J. F. Godfrey, his attorney, moved for a new trial, but was overruled. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court. June 4th, last, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment and orders of Judge Smith and remanded the cause to our Superior Court "with directions to proceed accordingly to law in carrying the sentence into execution." Justice Myrick delivered the opinion, Justices Sharpstein and Thornton concurring.

The remittitur was received by County Clerk Dunsmoor early yesterday afternoon by express.

After the death sentence, Colonel Godfrey made untiring efforts in behalf of his client. It is stated that he felt a personal responsibility for having advised Lennox to plead guilty; and on the very evening of his death said to a friend, "To have a man's blood on my shoulders is more than I can bear." He interceded with Governor Stoneman to commute the sentence to life imprisonment, on the ground that Lennox had not been convicted by a jury, and had pleaded guilty to lighten the sentence.

There was great surprise, and it is safe to say general regret, at learning yesterday afternoon, the outcome of the case. A telegram received yesterday noon by L. M. Stratton, of the late Col. Godfrey's office, states that Gov. Stoneman has commuted Lennox's sentence to imprisonment for life.

There is a good deal of feeling about the matter, especially among our native Californian population, who are not backward in asserting that Lennox would inevitably have been hung had he been of their blood. They point to Silvas and Martinez, who were executed last March, and neither of whose crimes was so absolutely atrocious and without redeeming feature as Lennox's. Many white citizens are equally dissatisfied, and ask what hanging is for, if such murderers as Lennox are to get off with imprisonment. It is hard to find anyone who is satisfied with the commutation except the prisoner and his family—the latter being very estimable people.

The Mystery of the Nadeau Rancho Suicide Solved.

Readers of the TIMES will remember that a few days ago the nude and much decomposed body of a suicide was found hanging to a ladder in the deserted beet-sugar factory on the R. Nadeau rancho, two miles from Florence. The coroner's inquest failed to reveal the identity of the unfortunate, or anything about him, save that he had probably been hanging there five or six weeks. The Express and Herald started a theory that the suicide was Chas. Stickelson, a German locksmith who disappeared mysteriously from his shop on an alley running from First street; but neither took any pains to hunt the matter. A TIMES reporter after considerable investigation found that Stickelson and the suicide did not tally. Their clothes were different, their scars were different, and there was a difference of four inches in their height. The Herald, however, has still stuck to the Stickelson theory.

The TIMES is at last able to present what is undoubtedly a solution of the mystery. For the last eight or nine years John Muller, a Switzer by birth, and 65 years of age, has been a resident of this county. He was a Union soldier during the war, and lost the little finger of his left hand in the battle of the Antietam. (This finger was missing from the suicide.) He then served from five to seven years in the regular army, next coming to this county. Of late he has been working for Wm. W. Dolly, a butcher at Norwalk. He was in the habit of going on sprees, and of becoming greatly depressed after they were over. He got on one at Norwalk on a Monday a few weeks before the suicide, and started off for Los Angeles, since which time he has not been seen alive. He had formerly worked on the Nadeau rancho, and thus became familiar with the old factory. Those who knew Muller read the TIMES detailed description of the suicide published by the TIMES, state that there is no doubt that it was Muller. He left no property and no known relatives.

EAST LOS ANGELES.

Encouraging Notes of Progress From the Suburb.

Never since East Los Angeles became a suburb of the city has it improved so rapidly as during the past month. The builder's saw and hammer are heard on every hand. At least a score of residences and business houses are in course of construction, and many more are to be built in the near future.

Since the number of cars were increased on the East Los Angeles line, travel has increased in equal ratio. Cars are always filled. Many strangers are daily seen on our streets, many of them inquiring about lots on which to erect homes.

The grocery firm of McKeag & Hughes, so well and favorably known, have sold their business to Stockwell Bros., late from Iowa. The new firm have put up an extensive addition, and have a fine, commodious store.

Messrs. Palmer and Addison have built a fine office on the avenue, where they will deal out real estate in quantities to suit. Their office is headquarters for the Cherry Valley Land and Water Company.

G. F. Dutton, one of the company, has removed to San Gorgonio, and is erecting a fine residence near the Summit House.

O. Hagden, the pioneer butcher of East Los Angeles, is building a commodious brick block on Downey avenue, a part of which he will occupy as soon as completed.

Pierce Bros. have just put up a fifty foot addition to their livery stable, and are fitting up an elegant office in a part of the extension.

East Los Angeles can now boast of as fine an ice cream parlor as can be found in Los Angeles. The McGraw Bros. have rented the store formerly occupied by Mr. Frankall. The front will be occupied as a fancy goods and confectionery store, and the rear as an ice cream parlor.

Mr. Wagstaff returned last week from a two months' visit to Kansas. He says California is good enough for him.

Rev. Mr. Chase has gone to Long Beach for a few days.

Mr. Peter Potts has just returned from San Gorgonio. He reports the weather as being fine, and the Summit House as rapidly filling up with summer boarders. Mr. McKeag, who has lately retired from business, will spend a few weeks with his family at Santa Monica. WELLINGTON.

GOOD TEMPLARS' HIGH JINKS.

A document of which the following is a copy, was served yesterday upon W. W. Taylor, a lawyer of the city and member of Merrill Lodge of Good Templars.

MERRILL LODGE No. 299, I. O. G. T. OF LOS ANGELES.—To Brother W. W. Taylor: You are hereby notified to appear before the undersigned committee, at Good Templars' Hall, on the 9th day of July, 1885 at 5 o'clock p. m. and answer to the charge annexed to this summons. In case you fail to appear, you will be reported to the Lodge as guilty of contempt, and will incur expulsion therefrom unless you can render a satisfactory excuse.

Dated this 8th day of July, 1885.

W. H. CONWIN,
N. W. BISHOP,
JAS. B. TOWNSEND,
Committee.

COPY OF CHARGE.

To Merrill Lodge No. 299, I. O. G. T. of Los Angeles: I charge Brother W. W. Taylor with having violated his obligations on or about the 28th day of April, 1885, at Los Angeles, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and I pray that a Committee of Investigation may be appointed.

Dated this 6th day of July, 1885.

Names of Witnesses:

C. H. DUNSMOOR,
S. M. WHITE.

Brother W. W. Taylor—SIR: The violation of obligation referred to is as follows, as near as we can ascertain:

It is charged that, on or about the 20th day of April, 1885, in the Superior Court, before W. A. Cheney, Judge, you willfully and maliciously, and with intent to injure Brother J. H. Levering, testified in the case of the people vs. Levering that Brother Levering was of bad character.

W. H. CONWIN,
N. W. BISHOP,
JAS. B. TOWNSEND,
Committee.

The foundation for the charge seems to have been laid in the fact that at the date referred to Brother Taylor happened into Judge Cheney's court room, and the District Attorney asked him to take the stand. Brother Levering was then on trial for embezzlement. The District Attorney asked Brother Taylor what he thought of Brother Levering's character, and the former responded that he thought it was bad. Brother Taylor, being under oath, thought it incumbent upon him to answer truthfully as to his opinion in the matter. For this he is cited to appear before the lodge. The question arises, What would the lodge have Brother Taylor do in the premises—perjure himself, or suffer a commitment for contempt of court?

Isaac Smith, another member of Merrill Lodge, is under the same charges as Mr. Taylor. Mr. Smith was regularly summoned in Levering's case in court and testified to the same effect as Taylor concerning the young man's character.

Mr. Smith went before the investigating committee in the hall of Merrill Lodge at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Fifteen or more people were present. Both prosecution and defense were represented by counsel and the session proved a very stormy one.

Assistant District Attorney Damron, who had prosecuted the case against Levering in the court, was present as a witness. In the course of Damron's examination, Levering asked him whether he had not attempted to run off one of the witnesses in his (Levering's) case when it was pending. The question was declared out of order, but there were hot words followed between Damron and Levering, when the two men came to blows. After a lively fisticuff for a moment or two the combatants were separated.

The case against Taylor is to come up at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Taylor will file a protest alleging that the committee has already entered into an investigation of his case without his knowledge and is, therefore, prejudiced and disqualified to give the matter a fair hearing; moreover he believes he could not get justice from the committee, as they are his personal enemies. He therefore requests that the charges be referred back to the lodge. Lively times may be looked for to-day.

It is understood that the present motion is but one feature of a running fight which has been going on for a year or two among the Good Templars, and which extends from one end of the State to the other. In the Grand Lodge it takes the shape of Katzenjammerites and anti-Katzenjammerites. At the approaching session of the Grand Lodge in Los Angeles there will be an array of the opposing hosts.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

D. Korbel Killed While Hunting in San Antonio Canyon.

A terrible accident, resulting from the old story of carelessness with fire-arms, occurred in the San Antonio Cañon yesterday morning. Ditman Korbel, a carpenter aged about 24 years, and living with his brother John at 28 Schuyler street, Boyle Heights, had gone out to the cañon Monday with a number of friends to camp and hunt. A special dispatch to the TIMES states that yesterday morning in crossing the stream he drew his shotgun along toward him by the muzzle. The trigger caught in some way, and the gun was discharged, a wad of cartridge full of buckshot entering Korbel's right side. He died in two hours. The remains will be brought to this city, and the funeral takes place to-day under the auspices of the Turnverein Germania, of which deceased was a member. A later account states that Korbel was crossing the creek on a log; that he slipped and fell, and that the gun was discharged in the fall. Louis Ottermadt was one of the party.

Letting Our Light Shine.

To-day we unfold to you our plans for the future. Our trade has been so large and we have been so crowded for room that necessity has compelled us to seek enlarged quarters. Our present location is the very best in the city, and we cannot afford to leave it. We have completed arrangements, and will in a few weeks open up another large salesroom in our basement. New floors will be laid, extra large skylight will be put in. The stairway will be put down from the inside, and the room will be shelved and countered in the most complete manner. The basement is a trifle larger than our present room. We shall fill it from one end to the other with job lot, cheap goods, odds and ends. And we tell you in advance that we will offer the most surprising lot of bargains ever seen in this, or any other country. Goods that we have never cared to mix with our present stock will be placed in our basement salesroom. The United States is full of cheap goods, and we shall devote one entire floor for this purpose and shall use it for advertising purposes. We don't care a cent if we don't make a cent out of it. We shall place in this salesroom twenty-five to thirty clerks to wait upon the trade, and shall increase our force as fast as the demands require it; and to more fully prepare for this coming event we desire to reduce our present stock fully one-half, and one-half it must be reduced; and every effort will be made, by reducing prices whenever and wherever it can be done. This, in brief, is an outline for the future. More information can be looked for in a few days. We are growing and growing, only as things can grow in California. J. T. SHEWARD.

Monsignor Capel.

Monsignor Capel will preach on Sunday morning in the Cathedral at the 10 o'clock mass. A conference on "The Claims of the Pope, Viewed in the Light of Scripture" will be delivered at 8 o'clock in the evening by Monsignor in the same Cathedral. All, both Catholics and non-Catholics, are earnestly invited.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

NEWHALL.

HOW THE FOURTH WAS WHOOPED UP.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

NEWHALL, July 5. — The Fourth passed off very quietly. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. The programme, as marked out, was somewhat broken into, but unavoidably so. At the conclusion of the usual exercises, reading Declaration, oration, etc., those inclined, and many there were, began to trip the light fantastic, which was continued in the grove until 6 p. m., when they adjourned to the Southern Hotel, whose large dining room was cleared by the proprietor, B. B. Boynton, and turned over to the terpsichorean public, without charge. The music and the dance continued until 12 o'clock with uninterrupted pleasure. No fires, fights or other casualties to note. The day was one of rejoicing, thanksgiving and pleasure to the good people of Newhall and vicinity.

To-day at 10 o'clock a. m. at the residence of 8th Devendorf, Mr. A. B. Gales was married to Miss Melissa Hanscom by the Rev. J. D. Crum. Witnesses to the happy event consisted of members of the family only. This has been a long anticipated event. The happy couple started east yesterday over the Southern Pacific route to visit friends and relatives in the old Pine Tree State. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

ORANGE.

THE COMING BIG MEETING, ETC.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

ORANGE, July 8.—Fruit is ripening several weeks earlier than last year. Plums and apples seem to be a drug in the market.

The six or eight dryers in this valley have about finished up the apricots. Peaches of very early varieties are gone, and the regular crop will soon be ready.

The new public library starts out with about one hundred members. There are four hundred volumes in the library and something near one dozen periodicals. It is to be quite an institution.

Some of the churches are having a vacation, even the Sabbath school being closed.

The great topic of the day with our folks is "The County Entomological Society." Quite extensive preparations will be made to receive delegates, and a large representation is expected.

Mrs. Strong started East to visit her old home in Michigan last Thursday. She will make quite a protracted visit.
